

NATURE PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS JULY 24

Sponsored by Bridle Trails Park Foundation

Join local photographer and outdoor enthusiast Andy Held for a nature photography class in the park. Learn how to get good photographs of plants, animals, and natural scenes.

Learn how to pick good subjects, work with available lighting or flash, properly frame shots, and use depth of field for best effects.

When: 9:00 – noon on Sunday, July 24

Where: 12434 NE 60th St, parking lot, Ben Franklin Elementary School

Preparation: Bring a good digital camera (SLR if you have one) and tripod

"The science and art of photography is described by a simple concept: seeing and controlling the inter-play of light, shadow, and subject to create a beautiful image." - Andy Held

The photography class will be limited to 20, and you must register in advance. To sign up, please contact Jim Erckmann at: programs@bridletrails.org or (425) 827-6595. There is no fee. More info at www.bridletrails.org.
